Mrs. M. A. Tindall has contributed the second lot of books to the library, so far as we are advised. These consist of Burns' Poetical Works, Lowell's Poems, Milton's Poems and a book called "The Divine Plan of the Ages." These books were sent to this office and will be turned over to the proper authorities. Mrs. Tindall has our thanks for a newspaper guide which is 34 years old. It makes mention of many papers long with their toes to the daisies.

Twice recently we have received items from Chalk Bluff and have been forced to consign them to the waste basket for the reason that the writer did not favor us with his name. The items in both instances were such as we are not only willing to publish but anxious to receive from every community where the Messenger circulates. Now, we do not wish to publish the names of our correspondents but we simply can not afford to violate the rule in any case. THE WRITER MUST ALWAYS SIGN CORRECT NAME TO MANUSCRIPT.

Mitchell-McQuiston

The following from the Aberdeen Weekly, of April 9th, will be of much interest to the many friends of Rev. Bland Mitchell, who has preached at the Grace Episcopal church here a number of times.

"A wedding of great interest to the many friends of the young couple, was solemnized on Wednesday evening at St. John's Episcopal church, where Miss Vivien McQuiston became the bride of Rev. Richard Bland Mitchell, Arch Deacon Smead and Rev. J. Lundy Sykes officiating. The quaint old church was artistically decorated in Southern smylax and stately palms. The handsome biars vases on the altar held exquisit Easter lilies. The Voice That Breathed Over Eden, was sung as a processional by the vested choir of St. John's church. Just preceding the entrance of the bridal party, Miss Rose Gillespie sang "Lord, Who at Cana's Wedding Feast." For the ceremony the bride wore an exquisit gown of white satin and lace and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and valley lillies. Miss Sallie Clifton, maid of honor, wore a beautiful gown of petite charmeuse with lace overdress. Miss May Ervin, of West Point, cousin of the bride, served as bridesmaid, wearing a charming gown of petite pussy miller taffeta. Mrs. Herbert Evans of Chicago, sister of the bride, wore an elegant empire gown of pink brocade with silk tulle overdress, and Mrs. Frank Simms of Columbus, was very handsome in a white satin brocade in blue with lace trimmings, were matrons of honor. Mr. Telfair Hodgeson, of Sewanee, Tenn., acted as best man; Messrs Capell Beckett and Col'n Lindsey, of West Point, groomsmen; Messrs Rollin Fitts, Maynard Holmes, Houston Gilleylin and Dr. Lilius Granlof ushers. Following the ceremony, a brilliant reception was held at the home of the bride's father, where the many friends of the happy couple wished them happiness and success, after which Rev. and Mrs. Mitchell left for their future home in New York City."

Cures Old Sores, Other Remedies Won't Cure. The worst cases, no matter how long standing, are cured by the wonderful, old reliable "Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil." It relieves pain and heals at the same time. 25c, 50c, $1.

Irvin Donaldson

A message was received by relatives here Sunday morning that Irvin Donaldson had died in Dallas, Texas the previous day. The tidings came as a great shock as the family had not heard of any recent illness.

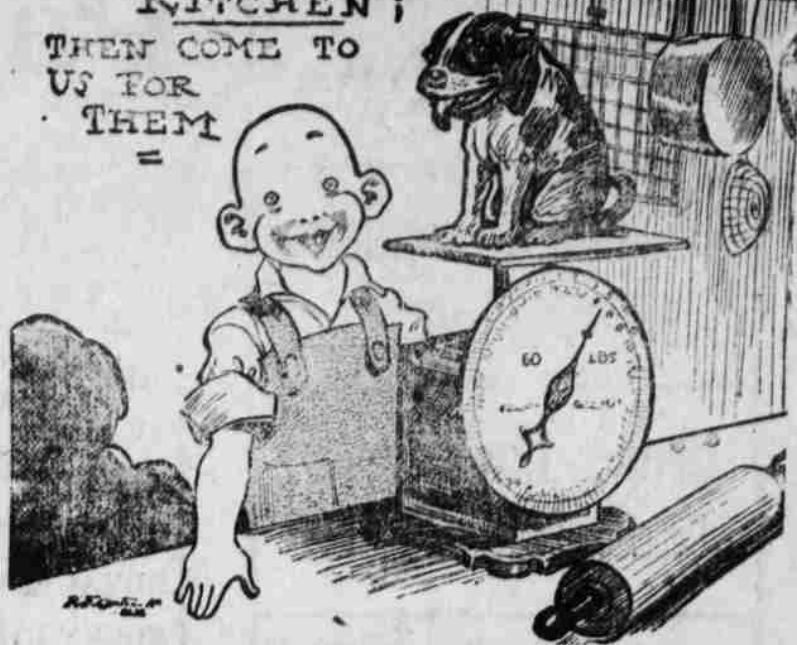

The remains reached here yesterday morning and were taken to Old Bethel cemetery and lowered to the tomb near loved ones, his mother, whose heart ever yearned for her absent boy, having preceeded him to the grave less than three months ago.

The deceased was the youngest son of Mr. William and Mrs. Alice A. Donaldson. He was born and reared here removing to Texas soon after his marriage to Miss Effie Baker several years ago. He was blessed with a fine constitution and gave promise to attain the age allotted to man but he was still in his twenties when death claimed him.

Besides his widow he leave a brother, Dr. J. A. Donaldson of Okolona, and four sisters, Mrs. Rachel Sample of Chesterville, Mrs. C. H. Lamb of Shannon, Mrs. Alice D. Moor and Miss Inez Donaldson of this place, and to all The Sentinel extends sincerest sympathy.—Pontotoc Sentinel, Apr. 8.
